Fundholders at the Community Foundation of New Jersey are motivated to leave meaningful philanthropic legacies. They may care about something very broad, like education or public safety, or something specific, like an animal shelter in Springfield.

No matter a fundholder’s philanthropic goals, the Community Foundation brings to bear the technical resources, local knowledge, and philanthropic know-how to help that fundholder achieve his or her goals and leave a lasting legacy.

Recently, the Community Foundation’s fundholders:

Rebuilt a Ski Mountain

to provide skiing lessons for kids who don’t have access to the outdoors in the winter. The fund lent dollars to help the National Winter Activities Center refurbish the former Hidden Valley ski resort in Vernon to make the nation’s first nonprofit, exclusively learn-to-ski mountain.

Secured a Spot on the Next Space Mission

for an Elizabeth student’s science experiment. The experiment was chosen from hundreds as part of a district-wide science competition sponsored by the fundholder. The competition markedly renewed students’ enthusiasm for science, technology, engineering, and math.

Started College Savings Accounts

for every public school kindergartener in Hopatcong. The fundholder was motivated by studies showing that even small savings accounts dramatically increase the odds a student will someday attend college. The Community Foundation partnered with Investors Bank to think through and launch the ambitious program.

Spurred Field Trips

that will make it possible for thousands of students in under-served communities this school year to visit New Jersey’s arts and culture sites, historic landmarks, nature preserves, and science institutions, as well as college campuses throughout the Mid-Atlantic region.
